

Prof. ALESSANDRO BOCCOLINI

 alessandro.boccolini@unitus.it

Alessandro Boccolini is an associate Professor in Modern History at the University of Tuscia (Italy). He was research fellow for the Institute of Italian Culture in Stockholm and the Clerici Foundation, he held his postdoctoral at the Dalarna University in Falun (Sweden). During the academic year 2019/20 he was a Visiting Research and Visiting Professor at the Taras Shevchenko National University of Kyiv, and in 2020, a Visiting Professor for the Italian Centre "Leonardo da Vinci" of Lviv Polytechnic National University (Ukraine).

His research is focused on the theme of papal diplomacy during the modern age, and on the history of travel and Italian travellers in central -east Europe. He is a member of CESPoM (Center Study on the Sobieski Age and Modern Poland) and director of "Eastern European History Review".

He is an ordinary member of C.I.R.V.I. (Centro Interuniversitario di Ricerche sul Viaggio in Italia); of the scientific council of D.T.C. Lazio (Technological District and Center of Excellence) and of the scientific board of PhD in "History of Europe" at the Sapienza University. In December 2023, he obtained the National Scientific Qualification (A.S.N.) for Full Professor in Modern History functions.