

Prof. MATTEO SANFILIPPO

 matteosanfilippo@unitus.it

Matteo Sanfilippo (Florence, 1956) is a full professor of Modern History and the director of the Scalabrinian Historical Institute.

He co-directs the "Archivio storico dell'emigrazione italiana" (historical archive of Italian emigration) (journal, book series, and website) and coordinates the journal "Studi Emigrazione" (Emigration Studies). Among his recent books on the subject are: "Emigration in Pontifical Documents" (Tau Editrice, 2018); "Tony and Paddy went to Hollywood: Italians and Irish in American Filmography" (I Quaderni del Museo dell'Emigrazione, 2022); "The Long Nineteenth Century of Italian Migrations" (Sette Città, 2023).

He has also edited, together with Lorenzo Prencipe, "Covid-19 and Migrations," "Studi Emigrazione," 221 (2021), a special issue, and "Migrants, Covid, Labor Market" (CSER, 2022).